Titel og abstract på workshoppen:

Community-based systemic therapy with traumatized and vulnerable people – an approach that changes the system.

The workshop will open a dialogue on family therapy as embedded in local communities. The use of felt sense through involving community art in the social healing will be shown through short films. Examples of contextualized and community-based social healing in diverse contexts will be presented and reflected upon. Through shared activities, we will experience core activities of the approach in practice and reflect upon the potential of these activities to promote social healing and social sustainability in local communities.
